

Dr. Mervin K. Strickler Jr.
Aerospace Education Leadership Award
2002

The National Coalition for Aviation Education (NCAE) represents government, industry, and aviation special interest groups united to promote aviation education activities and resources; increase public understanding of the importance of aviation; and support educational initiatives at the local, state, and national levels.

In 1995, NCAE established the Dr. Mervin K. Strickler Jr. Award to honor Dr. Strickler and recognize individuals who share his personal commitment and lifelong contributions to aerospace education. Dr. Strickler has promoted aerospace education for more than 50 years and is considered the “Father of Aerospace Education.”

Nominees may include educators, state aviation officials, fixed base operators, state superintendents of public instruction, members of armed forces, members of Congress, or other individuals who demonstrate outstanding aviation and space education leadership through a noteworthy achievement and/or made significant contributions to the aerospace field over a continuous period of time.

Nominations must include the name, address, and telephone number of both the nominee and the nominator, and written documentation (not to exceed three total typewritten pages) supporting the nomination. This may include any honorable awards, achievements, or certificates earned. Also, please provide a brief biography for the nominee. The primary evaluation factor will be evidence of personal effort promoting the aerospace industry to the general public and recognition by industry peers of the nominee. Nominations must be postmarked no later than JANUARY 31, 2002. Honoree will receive paid registration for the National Congress on Aviation and Space Education and will be the guest of NCAE at the Crown Circle Banquet and Brewer Awards event.

Nominations should be postmarked by January 31, 2002, mailed to:
